

Dr Sgouros is an assistant professor of Cartography and Geography of Energy reserves in the Eastern Mediterranean at the Department of Turkish and Modern Asian Studies. His courses and research activities evolve around the applications of Systemic Geopolitical Analyses and the application of GIS in geopolitical studies. His research interests include the construction of databases regarding the energy infrastructure at the Eastern Mediterranean, the interconnection of energy with geopolitical challenges and conflict risk analyses at the geographical complex of the region, in conjunction with the determination of degrees of freedom of the subsystem, especially with respect to International Law, economic development and suprasystemic strategies. He teaches courses at the interdisciplinary MSc "Geopolitical Analysis, Geostrategic Synthesis and International Security Studies". Since 2021, he is also the Director of the Laboratory of Geo cultural Analyses of Middle East and Turkey. The laboratory co-organized with the Department of Geography the Summer School NAXOS "Geo-economy and Integrated Development" in Naxos Island, Greece.